Managing Director

Securities & Guaranteed Loan Markets

Investing is more than just a single transaction. It is the execution of a well thought out strategy that has been developed by a team of experts. It is also not over after money has exchanged hands. It requires constant attention by skilled professionals and a strong bond of trust between parties.

I provide that for my clients. We work together building a relationship long before a trade is executed to make sure that the best strategy is implemented. I am committed to providing my customers the comprehensive expertise they deserve and will utilize Coastal Securities' strong analytical and technical support to help my clients meet their financial goals.
